CONTEXT

Migrations towards Europe and within European countries, is part of the history of the continent. As a consequence the composition of the religious beliefs within the European population is changing.

AIMS

The aims of the Pathway through Religions project are:

- To promote awareness of religions and foster a sense of mutual tolerance
- To provide secondary school teachers with the competences to deal with multi-religious classes
- To develop students' social, civic and intercultural competences and prevent discriminating behaviours

EXPECTED RESULTS

The main project results include:

- A teachers' guide on how to deal with diversity in the classroom
- An interactive didactical map of religious sites
- An online training course on a comparative analysis of religious traditions

TARGET GROUPS

The project is addressed to:

- Secondary Schools Teachers
- Secondary Schools Students
